Market Environment

Aon Investments' Key Themes for Public Funds

Market Environment

- The market dynamics of 2022 are colored by uncertainty around multi-decade highs in inflation, changes in Fed Policy (rising interest rates), and war
- Traditional diversification benefits of stocks & bonds are less effective as correlations move higher
- Though public equities and bonds had negative returns in Q1, non-traditional assets demonstrated their value in making portfolios more resilient across the challenging environment
- There has been volatility in both stocks and bonds

Current Investment Themes

- It is a good time to think about total equity risk in portfolios. Rebalance to remain in range but below target.
- This is a good time to emphasize broad diversification and non-traditional asset classes

Long-Term Strategy

- Consider opportunities in assets that are not readily available to all other investors, such as alternative credit and other alternative assets.
- Some strategies we currently find attractive are shipping finance, bank capital relief, opportunistic credit, and specialty finance.
- Review the expected return on assets assumption to ensure it is in-line with best estimates

The opinions referenced are as of March 31, 2022 and are subject to change due to changes in the market or economic conditions and may not necessarily come to pass. Information contained herein is for informational purposes only and should not be considered investment advice. Diversification does not ensure a profit nor does it protect against loss of principal. Diversification among investment options and asset classes may help to reduce overall volatility.

Source: MSCI

- Equities were challenged during the first quarter and volatility remained elevated. Global equity markets fell over the quarter, with the U.S. weighing on the index in January, while Europe and Emerging Markets were weaker during the latter part of the quarter. The MSCI All Country World Investable Market Index (ACWI IMI) returned -5.5% for the quarter but was up 6.3% over the past year.
- Across international markets, except for Canada and Pacific ex-Japan, all the regions were weak over the quarter. Canadian equities were the best performer led by Energy and Materials sectors.
- Europe ex-UK equities were the worst regional performer with a return of -10.0%. This was due to a combination of the highly infectious sub-variant of Omicron, BA.2, spreading across Europe, and Europe's proximity and exposure to the fall out from the Russia-Ukraine conflict.
- Emerging Markets returned -6.6% for the first quarter with Chinese and Korean equities weighing on the region. China re-imposed strict lockdowns in major cities like Shanghai and Shenzhen as the country now faces its most significant surge in Covid-19 cases since the pandemic began.

PRIVATE VS. PUBLIC REAL ESTATE RETURNS AS OF 03/31/2022

*First quarter returns are preliminary

CAP RATES BY SECTOR

Sources: RCA, AON 3/31/2022

- U.S. Core Real Estate returned 7.4%* in first quarter 2022, equating to a 28.5% total gross return year-over-year. Townsend witnessed a robust recovery across the US economy and US real estate markets in 2021, with a continuation through the first quarter of 2022. Real estate capital markets are highly liquid and competitive for in vogue sectors but have also been surprisingly strong for less favored sectors. Capital raising has exceeded pre-pandemic levels and even exceeded historical highs, resulting in a continued build up of dry powder in the market.
- Global property markets, as measured by the FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Developed Real Estate Index, returned -3.8% (USD) in aggregate during the first quarter and experienced a cumulative increase of 15.4% over the trailing 1-year period. REIT market performance was driven by Asia Pacific (-0.8% USD), North America (-3.9% USD), and Europe (-7.1% USD). The U.S. REIT markets (FTSE NAREIT Equity REITs Index) returned -3.9% in the first quarter. The U.S. 10-year treasury bond yields steepened to 2.3% during the quarter, an increase of 80 basis points over year-end 2021.
- In first quarter 2022, deal volumes across all sectors moderated from a historic high in fourth quarter 2021. The demand for modern logistics networks has outpaced development and now low-single-digit vacancy rates are common across major markets in the US. A mismatch of supply and demand is driving strong rent growth in the industrial sector, as e-commerce still only accounts for approximately 15% of retail sales and is forecasted to grow at close to 10% per annum between 2022-2025. Significant demand combined with an undersupply of modern assets continues to support the development modern logistics properties and refurbishment of well-located older product.
- The strong global economic rebound has stoked inflation beyond economists' expectations and persistent supply chain disruption has been slow to resolve. Commercial real estate construction has been particularly impacted by supply chain disruption and witnessed material prices increases well beyond CPI. Key materials inputs for commercial and residential construction have seen substantial price increases, including Lumber, Copper, and Steel. Real estate provides an inflationary hedge, and the trend is already prevalent in industrial, apartment, and life sciences in terms of rising rent growth. However, not all sectors will benefit from hedge. Office fundamentals likely to remain weak in the near-term
- Townsend has identified high conviction investment themes that are predicated on secular growth trends and strong underlying real estate market fundamentals. These investment themes have commonalities such as anticipated tenant demand growth, natural barriers to supply, and operating complexity that are anticipated to persist medium to long-term.

Rank

A representation of the percentile position of the performance of a given portfolio, relative to a universe of similar funds. For example, a rank of 25 for a given manager indicates outperformance, by that manager, of 75% of other Funds in that universe.

Universe

A distribution of the returns achieved by a group of funds with similar investment objectives.

Ratio of Cumulative Wealth

An illustration of a portfolio's cumulative, unannualized performance relative to that of its benchmark. An upward sloping line indicates fund outperformance. Conversely, a downward sloping line indicates underperformance by the fund. A flat line is indicative of benchmark-like performance.

Risk-Return

The horizontal axis, annualized standard deviation, is a statistical measure of risk, or the volatility of returns. The vertical axis is the annualized rate of return. As most investors generally prefer less risk to more risk and always prefer greater returns, the upper left corner of the graph is the most attractive place to be. The line on this exhibit represents the risk and return trade-offs associated with market portfolios, or index funds.

Manager Descriptions

DFA

The objective of the DFA Small Cap Trust is to capture the returns of the small company asset class while reducing transaction costs. The portfolio holds capitalization-weighted positions of all eligible securities. Industry diversification is a residual of the process. In an attempt to minimize the costs of a pure indexing strategy that demands immediate execution in illiquid small-cap markets, DFA's trading strategy focuses on controlling transaction costs. DFA establishes buy, hold, and sell ranges aimed at moderating turnover and limiting transaction costs. Price sensitivity takes precedence over time of execution and block trading is utilized whenever possible.

BlackRock Russell 1000 Index

Manager Descriptions

Arrowstreet

Arrowstreet uses an active, quantitative investment approach. It looks to consistently outperform the benchmark through varying market conditions. Arrowstreet's quantitative models examine both information and behaviour to identify attractive stocks from around the world. Arrowstreet then uses forecasting models and the judgment of its investment team to combine its rigorous quantitative research with investment intuition.

MFS

The MFS Global Equity portfolio is a relatively concentrated, actively managed product that seeks to measure each company's ability to generate above-average, sustainable earnings growth while considering the attractiveness of their valuation. MFS focuses on a fundamental bottom-up company analysis by research analysts organized along global sector lines. Using quantitative screens, the investment professionals narrow the investable universe from 5,000 names to about 450 names, rated "buy". From there the analysts perform proprietary fundamental analysis on each buy-rated company to determine if it should be included in the portfolio. Analysts are given the discretion to use whatever models they deem appropriate for the given stock's sector and country. From there, the investment team will include 90-110 names in the portfolio.

Wellington Equity

The philosophy of the Global Equities approaches is based on four key tenets. The first principle is that high active share strategies outperform. Active share is a metric which calculates the magnitude of the active bets in a portfolio. An increasing body of academic evidence and proprietary research conducted by the Team supports this. Nonetheless, high active share investing entails a much greater level of risk than many can tolerate. In fact, the majority of the strategies utilized in the Global Equities approach are custom portfolios not broadly utilized or marketed outside of this team managed approach due to their high level of concentration and/or volatility. However, by combining independent and complementary high active share strategies, the team strives to retain the high level of alpha these styles can generate while minimizing the significant drawdowns that often occur with aggressive investment styles such as these.

Dodge & Cox

Dodge & Cox employs a fundamental, bottom-up investment approach and seeks to invest in companies with long-term earnings and cash flow growth prospects that are selling at attractive prices. The Fund is managed by a team of experienced and talented investors that form the Global Stock Investment Committee ("GSIC"), which in turn is supported by well-resourced, high-quality industry research teams. Analysts construct detailed financial models and conduct extensive company management visits across the value chain.

BlackRock Core Plus Universal

BlackRock's fixed income management approach revolves around the following fundamental principle: The firm does not believe significant value can be added through interest rate forecasting, and therefore manages portfolio durations within a narrow band around the index. BlackRock utilizes sophisticated proprietary quantitative tools to evaluate the cash flows of complex fixed income securities. In making sector and security decisions, BlackRock considers both fundamental and technical factors, including macroeconomic trends, supply and demand analysis, yield curve structure, and volatility and convexity analysis. The firm believes that it can add value by utilizing a broader range of eligible assets, including a wide range of mortgage securities, medium-term notes, floating-rate notes, and Treasury STRIPS.

PIMCO

PIMCO employs a top-down, core approach that combines active sector rotation and moderate duration positions. The firm's objective is to add value without increasing risk by using innovative portfolio management techniques and by identifying superior sector and issue opportunities. Although PIMCO generally keeps portfolio duration within 30% of that of the benchmark, the manager shifts other dimensions of the portfolio (sector weightings, coupon, yield curve exposure, etc.) more liberally, depending on where they find value. PIMCO uses fixed income derivative instruments both for hedging purposes and as synthetic investments.

Manager Descriptions

BlackRock Aggregate Bond Index

BlackRock employs a modular structure in capturing the U.S. bond market. The Fund's structure can be thought of as a "superfund," or a fund constructed by holding units of the following seven modular funds that each track its own particular segment of the Barclays Universe - Intermediate Government, Long Government, Intermediate Credit, Long Credit, Mortgage-Backed, Asset-Backed, and Commercial Mortgage-Backed. Each individual modular fund is constructed to accurately represent the overall risk and return characteristics of its relevant benchmark universe. BlackRock uses a combination of a cellular stratified sampling approach and a risk factor model.

Loomis Sayles

Loomis Sayles employs an opportunistic buy-and-hold approach of purchasing long-dated, call-protected, lower-quality corporate paper generally at a deep discount. For its High Yield strategy, the manager will opportunistically invest in foreign local government debt as well as make extensive use of busted convertibles and preferred issues. Loomis Sayles' strong fundamental credit research supports the manager's credit-driven process. The manager employs over 20 senior fixed income analysts who are supported by research associates. These senior analysts, who perform fundamental sector, industry, and company analysis across the global credit ratings spectrum, work in concert with fixed income traders/specialists who monitor the market and provide relative value inputs. Loomis Sayles' portfolio managers synthesize the credit fundamentals and relative value analysis to make buy/sell decisions. The portfolio may look significantly different than the benchmark.

Wellington Global

The Global Aggregate approach seeks to generate consistent excess returns through the combination of lowly correlated investment strategies developed by five highly specialized investment teams. Each team has a unique area of focus which is sector, region, or investment style based. This unique team structure ensures that Global Aggregate portfolios are highly diversified which leads to more consistent risk-adjusted returns in a wide variety of market environments. The Global Aggregate approach seeks to generate 1% - 1.5% of excess relative return over the Barclays Global Aggregate Bond Index. Global Aggregate portfolios invest in debt securities of government, corporate, and securitized debt issuers from around the world.

Loomis Sayles Bank Loans

Loomis Sayles structures bank loan portfolios in a conservative and benchmark-aware framework. Initial screening criteria include likelihood of default and size of loan relative to size of company. Analysts focus on understanding collateral, level of debt and equity subordination, cash flow generation ability, strength of covenants, and equity valuation. Loomis Sayles' bank loan strategy favors high quality loans with a focus on the risk-return trade-off between BB and B loans, and seeks to avoid CCC & below and second lien loans.

Franklin Templeton

Franklin Templeton applies a bottom-up approach to portfolio construction that is supplemented with industry top-down views. Franklin Templeton believes that constructing diversified portfolios of predominantly senior-secured floating rate debt instruments can provide the potential for high income. Franklin Templeton seeks to reduce levels of overall credit risk and principal value volatility through independent fundamental credit research and active portfolio management. The manager's bank loan strategy aims to minimize default risk and, as a result, places a low priority on price appreciation.

Neuberger Berman

Neuberger Berman employs a process in managing its fixed income strategies that combines top-down and bottom-up sources of active management, while complementing its approach with quantitative models to calibrate the manager's views. The process is predicated on the manager's philosophy that asset prices reflect consensus expectations across an array of factors, such as the path of interest rates, the shape of the yield curve, credit risk, cash flow patterns, and volatility; and leads to opportunities. Neuberger Berman believes it is able to add value over time from its interest rate framework, productive sector decisions, and fundamentally-driven issue selection.
